Defending Australia's health and protecting individual rights

We believe a Healthy Australia is built on the following five fundamentals:

Healthy People: Build a health-creation system, not a disease-management system. Use the best of proven natural and pharmaceutical medicine. Expose and remove the influence of multinational pharmaceutical companies. Targeted spending using evidence from unbiased real-world clinical studies.

Healthy Economy: Fair taxes on the wealthy, encourage the middle to progress, and support the poor and disadvantaged. Grow small business as the real engine-room of the economy. Ensure that big business, big unions and paperwork burdens do not distort the benefits of free enterprise. Genuine tax reform based on fairness and truth.

Healthy Environment: Make our environment a major asset, where Australia is a safe and unpolluted place to live and to visit. Place a premium on Australia being "clean and green", and support sustainable agriculture. Embrace sustainable / renewable energy. Respect and protect the environment, animals and endangered species at all times.

Healthy Democracy: Expose and reduce the influence on the national media of wealthy vested interests. Strengthen the national broadcaster and formalise fact checks. Make decision-making open and transparent at all levels of government. Encourage all citizens to participate in the national discussion, and to value their vote.

Healthy Society: Make being "an Australian" valued around the world because of our open and tolerant society. Develop compassion and sharing to reduce racism and division within Australia. Appreciate that high quality, affordable education for all will in time transform and improve society. Celebrate the best of our national character and expose and educate to eliminate what needs to change.
